Municipal Hospital A Live Issue

The health of the people is the highest law—this spoke Cicero in the days of the Old Roman Regime—under Caesar. The same law holds true to-day though in this progressive age it has been for the most part disregarded by most people until they are brought face to face with a physical catastrophe, then to realize but only too late what should have been provided for long since.

The three foremost requirements of any community are, The Church to insure spiritual welfare, The School to insure educational welfare and the Hospital to insure physical welfare. The former two of this notable trio are always present wherever one goes, but how often is the Hospital either a minus quantity, or inadequate to serve the district supplied.

Of late years the establishment of hospitals has gone ahead at an amazing rate, for at least the country as a whole has realized how miserably inadequate are the facilities for taking care of the sick. The significance lies in treating the human machine as one requiring continuous care, and not merely sporadic attention upon a breakdown.

It is only human nature for one to believe in one's own physical infallibility, but sooner or later one's optimistic outlook on life is due for disappointment. The law of averages, which are cold facts and vary but little, shows that 95 per cent of all people will at some time in their life span require hospital treatment, 45 per cent of the total number will require urgent or emergency treatment. If you should be one of the 45 per cent would you not wish for a fully equipped, modern and up-to-date hospital in your community? where your urgent needs could be attended to at once. Where the spark of life, possibly already hanging in the balance, could be rekindled in a flame, assuring you of restoration to health and strength, or is it your wish that the spark already growing less should be allowed to go out, all for the want of a Municipal Hospital in your community? Surely it is worth the maximum of $6.00 per quarter section, to have this form of sickness insurance at your disposal for three hundred and sixty-five days of the year, should you require it. By its presence you are safeguarding yourself and your family against any sickness or accident to which the flesh may fall heir, assuring them of the same type of treatment that can be obtained in the cities some hundreds of miles distant; with the added advantage of treatment being instituted hours earlier when you have a Municipal Hospital in your district, the time factor alone in many cases being the deciding factor between life and death. Secondly, in the city the cost of hospitalization ranges from $3.50 to $7.00 per day whereas in your own hospital the rate is $1.00 per day, a saving of $2.50 to $6.00 per day, not to mention the cost of transportation, and the living expenses of the relatives who must necessarily remain for a time in the city, where the patient is hospitalized. Should these points not weigh heavily in your decision regarding the advisability of establishing a Municipal Hospital?

HEALTH is the first of all liberties, and Happiness gives us the energy which is the basis of health. If we are in ill health we cannot be happy, and therefore suffer from lack of energy. Guard against this by establishing a Municipal Hospital, where service toward restoration of health and happiness are foremost, for the way to live is to look ahead, and keep fit for the coming tasks, this phase is well taken care of by your Municipal Hospital, which will add years to your life as well as life to your years.

If a child is well born, at first a few thirds of its life, life is won, not to speak of the unspeakable hardships inflicted upon the mother. Should not the aim of every community to-day be, to see that every child is well born, and that every mother is relieved from the suffering, and sometimes disaster that attend these events? By the establishment of a Municipal Hospital, the horrors for the mother of passing through this phase, in a deplorable atmosphere where

Newspaper Men To Gather At Edmonton

Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association To Be Held In Northern City In July

At the annual meeting of the board of directors, Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, just concluded, the city of Edmonton was selected for the annual convention of the association to be held in July, with side trips to Banff and Jasper. The position of manager of the association with head office at Toronto, Ontario, is as yet vacant, but hopes are held that a suitable man will be found shortly. The list of candidates submitted was not satisfactory. A delegation of eastern and western members is anxious to secure the consent of S. J. Dorman, manager of the Saskatchewan division and publisher of The Alameda Dispatch, to accept the position. Mr. Dorman has so far refused to leave the west.

The Menace Of Wheat Rust

"During the last twenty years a certain parasitic fungus, known to the prophets from Moses to Burbank, has stolen half a million dollars' worth of wheat from the farmers of Western Canada."

With these introductory words, W. A. Irwin writes in a recent issue of MacLean's Magazine, of the tireless efforts being put forth in the Dominion Rust Laboratory at Winnipeg, and by the research departments of the three universities of the Prairie Provinces, to develop a rust resistant type of wheat.

"Twenty years ago, Manitoba's hard bread wheat was at once the standard and the envy of the world. Last year, more than half of Manitoba's wheat crop was under rust. Why? The answer is 'rust'."

"Last year, Alberta produced four-fifths as much wheat on six and a quarter million acres as Saskatchewan produced on thirteen million acres. Why? The answer is 'rust'."

"Last year, up until end of December, of the wheat from the entire West, only thirty-five per cent. graded Number Three Northern or better, as compared with fifty-five per cent. so graded during the previous year. Why? The answer is 'rust'."

"Last year, Manitoba produced only 20,000,000 bushels of wheat as compared with 50,000,000 bushels in 1926. Why? The answer is 'rust'."

"Nor is that the whole story. Since 1907 rust has cost an average of $25,000,000 a year in wheat grown, a total of half a billion dollars of $200,000,000 in 1926. In 25,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat that might have gone into the making of bread, more than half the rust scourge. More than that, thanks to the same scourge, it now is impossible to grow Marquis wheat in great areas of southern Manitoba and those who know best declare, without equivocation, that a similar fate would overtake all that province and most of Saskatchewan if this new scourge of Nature were allowed to run its course unchecked."

Even to Western farmers who know, to their own sorrow, the terrible ravages of rust, these statements, though they are true, are not the last word sustained, and the gravity of the menace to the future of wheat growing in the West, will come as a surprise and a distinct shock. It is revealed by these facts and figures that 'rust' is leaving a heavier toll on Western farmers than customs tariffs, export rates, or hail, or many other things which have long commanded the attention of farmer organizations."

Rust, hail and noxious weeds are the great enemies of the Western farmer. Weeds can be eradicated through the combined efforts of rural municipal councils and individual farmers, and they can be prevented by the adoption of good farming methods, and the use of only good, clean seed. Insurance against losses by hail can be secured, even if the occurrence of rust cannot be prevented or controlled. But it has been established that rust cannot be prevented or eradicated; that there is no bread wheat in the known world that is immune from rust; that, consequently, the only hope lies in the development of a type of bread wheat that is rust resistant."

As is pointed out in Mr. Irwin's article, it is the same old story of the pioneer's audacity all over again. In the beginning, the West couldn't find a wheat that would grow fast enough to escape the spring and autumn frosts north of the forty-ninth parallel. But it called in the plant breeder and made wheats that would grow fast enough. Now it's a wheat that won't feed rust. The story of the campaign now being waged to develop such a wheat is an inspiring one. Farmers, the progress thus far made is highly encouraging, even though the battle is yet far from being won, or the end of the struggle in sight. Dr. Bailey, who has been in charge of the Dominion Rust Laboratory in Winnipeg, has no delusions, but he is bold. He told Mr. Irwin, "I think I can say with reasonable certainty that we have succeeded in capturing rust resistance in a bread wheat type. We have several resistant lines now, some of them in the fourth generation, and they seem to be fairly stable, but we have no guarantee that they will be as good as the others."

"It is not in itself sufficient to develop a rust resistant type of bread wheat. Such a type must also be satisfactory from the standpoint of yield per acre, early maturity, milling quality, baking quality, and all the others demanded by a wheat importing world. Therefore, said Dr. Bailey, 'if quality is not satisfactory, we'll have to start breeding for it and we can't breed for quality from the resistant lines already developed, well—we'll have to start all over again.'"

It is not the West alone that is vitally interested in the success of this great undertaking, but all Canada, indeed, the whole world. The Dominion Government is spending the $100,000 a year in the maintenance of this centralized rust research, a mere bagatelle compared with the average of $50,000,000 a year loss which rust imposes on the country. The experts carrying on this important work are humbly underpaid and there is grave danger of losing their services. Farmers and business men of the West should not only insist that there be no measure in the remuneration paid these men, and their services retained, but the Dominion Government should be urged to stop at no expense necessary to bring these really wonderful experiments to a successful conclusion at the earliest possible date.

Farmer Drives Over Explosive

Shell in War Zone Kills Four Horses and Injures Man

Death toll harks in shell of the war zone, after ten years of noxious test clearing.

Maurice Rebelek was ploughing a field at Lethbridge when one of his horses struck with its hoof the head of a six-inch shell buried just under the surface. It exploded, blowing the four horses to fragments and injuring Rebelek.

The following day a Polish farmer found a three-inch shell and threw it into the air to scare his comrade. It landed on the cap, exploded, and killed him.

The First Trouser Pocket

Before the time of the trousers pocket, man carried his valuables in a little bag of cloth tied about his waist. Often, however, a thief would slip up behind, slit the string with a knife and make off with the treasure. A thoughtful Frenchman, 300 years ago, sewed the bag in the lining of his garments, thereby facilitating the first trouser pocket.

In nine months 150,000 persons have visited the health resort of Czechoslovakia, which stands as a record for health resorts.

AVOID THE PAINS OF RHEUMATISM

This Trouble Comes Through Weak, Watery Blood

Many a painful ailment that could be avoided by building up the blood. Rheumatism comes through the blood, and can be driven out of the system by enriching it. The blood must be made rich, red blood no medicine equals it. These pills actually make new blood, driving out all poisonous secretions and restoring the condition of robust health. Thousands of rheumatic sufferers have found relief by using Williams' Pink Pills. Among them is Mr. J. A. Tully, Indianapolis, Ind., who says:—"As a worker in the woods for years I was exposed to all kinds of rough winter weather. The result was that I was finally laid up with rheumatism, and could not move and was confined to bed. Medicine after medicine would do nothing. The best encouragement the doctor gave me was that with the coming of warm weather it would be better. But instead of getting better I grew worse. My doctor told me to give up, and my legs so stiff they would hardly support my body. At length I read that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended for rheumatism, and I bought a box. The results were beyond my expectations. After a few weeks the swelling had disappeared, and the stiffness gradually wore away, and now I can walk and do my work. I feel that rheumatism had disappeared. The next winter when I went into the wood I took a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with me, and they kept me in the best of condition. My experience and that of others would do much to relieve rheumatic sufferers. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail—at $2.00 a box, Dr. Williams' Medical Co., Brockville, Ont."

Population Of Saskatchewan

Rural Population More Than Double The Urban

The population of Saskatchewan, as at June 1, 1926, was $20,735, an increase in the five-year period from the quinquennial census of 1921, of 63,728, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. In this total males exceeded females by 73,124. The rural population was more than double the urban, at 578,200 compared with 242,332. In the latter seven cities, 90 towns and 300 villages are included. Highest population is set at 37,329; Saskatoon's at 31,234 and Moose Jaw at 10,939.

It has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will relieve the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sore and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Ancient Wood Carver Passes

Credited With Being the Originator Of Famous Cigar Store Indian Louis John, the old Quebec artist, died at the age of 86. He was a figure known to thousands of tourists who visited him in his little studio near the shrine of St. Anne. He had carved and painted many a masterpiece and bought samples of his work. John's craft was an ancient one that went back to the Indians. He was credited with being the originator of the famous cigar store Indian. Born at St. Raymond, Portneuf county, Quebec, he was known as one of the world's greatest carvers. Perhaps his most distinctive work, and certainly his best known one, is his huge statue of the Blessed Virgin which towers above Cape Trinity at the entrance to the Saguenay River and is known as the 'Giant of the Saguenay.' It stands 25 feet high.

Canadians May Sail For Antarctic

Reported That Two Canadian Citizens May Join Commander Byrd's Expedition

When Commander Richard E. Byrd sets sail for the Antarctic next fall, with his expedition culminating in a post-navigational flight across the South Pole, there is a possibility that he will be accompanied by two Canadians.

There is a possibility of Dr. L. D. Livingstone, F.R.S.G., of Ottawa, who is connected with the Northwest Territories branch of the Interior Department, and Inspector A. H. Joy, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who has accompanied Byrd, through definite arrangements have been completed.

Both Dr. Livingstone and Inspector Joy have had vast experience in the Arctic regions.

God and the C.N.R.

Reverent Sinner Reluctantly Railroad For Stolen Bells

Just what heaven has to do with railroads has never been properly defined. The attempt to link the two was made recently, however, and by none other than a one-time hobo who repented and whose trips in the "side-door Pullman" caused him much heart-searching. He did it, in a manner of speaking, by putting God at the head of the Canadian National Railways. He called it "The Lord's Railroad," he issued no circular, but merely remarked: "Of course. That accounts for the quality of our service to the people of Canada."

Joseph Modill, Canadian National district passenger agent at Edmonton, may have realized this but he got the shock of his life, nevertheless, when he received this letter from Nampo, Iowa, June 15, 1926:

"Dear Sir—Some years ago I was hired at the Edmonton office to be Drummeller to work on a G. & N. engine pulled by Drummeller, and failed to get out to work. I also road out from Big Valley to Munsion on a freight train. "I have become a Christian and feel that I must pay this bill. I hope you will forgive me for such an act and receive this money in the same manner. God has forgiven me, and I owe it to God and the Canadian National Railways. I have $2.00 a week salary and $7.50, seven dollars and fifty cents, which I hope will cover the bill, but if not, let me know and I will send the rest."

Bird Migration Is Remarkable

Difficult to Understand What Gives Them Impulse to Start

United States Biological Survey has proven that two black-headed gulls have made the trip from Canada across the ocean, while two kittiwakes, lost loose in England, were found in Newfoundland. Also a young Arctic tern, banded in Labrador, reached France, but was dead when picked up. Then there are birds that spend the summer in Canada, but in the winter they are known to be in Argentina and Chile. The thing most difficult to understand is how birds know enough to cross the ocean. It may seem like the question of a child, but it is puzzling enough for the adult mind to think over—how do birds know they will come to land after flying the thousands of miles over the ocean? What is it that gives them the impulse to start in the first place, and how are they able to reckon so well that they actually do reach the shore on the other side?

They have no navigating instruments; they make no study of weather charts; they can take along no chicken sandwiches and not coffee, and certainly they can carry no fuel. They have no compass, they are without a radio outfit. Yet they make the trip. It's remarkable, even when it is made for the fact that the young birds may have older companions on their first trip.

Canadian Grain Arriving in Liverpool Sold To Be Low Grade

"John Miller (Liverpool), Progressive, Qu'Appelle, asked the Government if any complaints had been received from Britain regarding the condition in which Canadian grain was arriving in that country."

Hon. James Malcolm, minister of trade and commerce, said that a letter had been received from the Liverpool Corn Exchange saying that the grade had been noticeably lower in the past two years. Whether or not this was from bad seasons or from lowered inspection standards they could not tell, but that unless the standards were maintained the prestige of Canadian grain in that market would be damaged.

conveniences are not available, would be renewed. The baby would then be well born, thus receiving a fair start on the pathway of life, for later we expect these to be everything that Canadian citizens should be, but how can we expect it, if they are not given the opportunities over which they have no control. What about the mother; is it your wish that her life span should be shortened by at least ten years? Just because she has been deprived of the facilities and conveniences that should have been hers, at a time like this. These necessities which could have been provided at such insignificant cost.

When God thought of Mother, He did not have in mind a life of suffering and grief, but quickly—so rich, so deep, so divine, so full of soul, power and beauty, was the conception. Surely it is not too great a task for us to preserve it, by providing an institution worthy of the name of MOTHER.

The practitioner of medicine is here not to get all that he can out of life for himself, but to try to make the lives of others happier. Will you do your share by establishing a Municipal Hospital?
